Why Hanlon Always Prepares His Pitchers With Care-Choynski and Jeffries Exonerated in Court-Sharkey Dodges the Klondike -Lafayette Wants to Play Columbia

It was too cold and the surface of Manhattan Field was too hard and rough for baseball practice yesterday, but the New York players were ordered out just the same. Perhaps fifty enthusiasts watched the labored efforts of the men in the morning and not more than 100 in the afternoon, the vantage point being the viaduct along 155th street. It was impossible for the men to handle grounders or to throw across the diamond, while the pitchers took no chances. Matthewson of Bucknell University was among those who reported. According to Manager Mack of the Philadelphia American League club he is a contract jumper, having signed with that club and accepted advance money two months ago. Secretary Knowles stated that Pitcher Roger Denzer of the Chicago Amercan League team last year was due to report to Manager Davis last night, but a despatch from Chicago says that he will live up to his contract with Comiskey: that he received a good offer from Manager Davis, but did not even consider it. Statements made to the effect that the New Yorks are stronger than ever before and that they have a chance for the pennant have made their annual appearance, but ball players who know the game cannot be misled by such irresponsible press work. What few old-time cranks looked the material over yesterday threw up their hands and sorrowfully walked away.

The champion Brooklyns, or rather several of them, got under way yesterday. Kennedy, Daly. Dahlen and Farrell left in the morning to join Manager Hanlon at Washington. The latter expects the rest of his men to be with to join Manager Hanion at Washington. The latter expects the rest of his men to be with him before the week ends and then hard work at Charlotte, N. C., will begin. The southern trip, though being short, is bound to be beneficial, as the weather here is anything but propitious for spring training. Hanion says that he needs a warm atmosphere to get his corps of veteran pitchers in proper condition so that when the championship race begins they will be able to let themselves out to the top notch. This is one of the secrets of Hanion's success in developing champion baseball teams. By preparing his pitchers with especial care he has been able to begin each season with a rush. The Brooklyn manager has often said:

"If you have your pitchers fit when the race begins that's half of the fight. The other teams cannot hit at that period because they have not got the practice, and usually their pitchers are behindhand. That gives me a chance to beat them in small score games. If a pitcher is handled so that his arm gains strength from day to day and is never sore from overwork he can stand a strain later, no matter what the climate may be. I never allow my pitchers to begin with hard overwork. It is most injurious. Many a valuable pitcher has lost his cunning because he has been allowed to let himself out on the first warm day. To permit a pitcher to perspire in cold weather is the worst thing in the world. All the sweaters that he can pile on after the exercise cannot prevent his joints from stiffening. He is liable to have an elbow strained or a shoulder wrenched and that will generally settle him for the rest of the season, if not forever. The pitching department is the most important part of a ball team. If it is neglected or mismanaged success is impossible.

Centre Fielder Jones of last year's Brooklyns has gone South with Comiskey's Chicago Americans. He says he has signed for three years at a salary of $3.000 a year. He further says that he refused an offer of similar proportions from the Brooklyn dub.

The Eastern League of Professional Baseball Clubs will hold its annual schedule meeting in this city at the Victoria Hotel to-day. The circuit composed of Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Toronto, Montreal, Providence, Worcester and Hartford appears to be better arranged than those of recent years. President P. T. Powers said yesterday that indications point to a successful season, even though there may be disaster in the National and American Leagues.

The Grand Jury at Galveston, having the investigation of the cases of Joe Choynski and Johnson for alleged prize-fighting, presented the following report to the presiding Justice:

that too much importance has been attached to this insignificant affair, and that the moral and religious element in the State has been unduly excited by rensational and exaggerated enlargement of what otherwise, to this Grand Jury, appears to be a small affair, with no motive, intent of fact to show a violation of the law by Chowaski and Johnson, and then of the law by Chowaski and Johnson, and the culges in the hope that the incident is closed.

Champion Jeffries, too, won his case against "Reformer" Frank Hall at thicage. A week ago Hall secured warrants for the arrost of Jeffries and his brother for engaging in a "boxing exhibition" at a local theatre. After the pugilists had been held for the Grand Jury in $200 each their attorney applied for a written of habeas corpus before Judge Kavanagh When the case came up the other day the court room was crowded with sporting men. Jeffries took the stand and explained to the Court that the boxing exhibition which took place in the third act of his show was only a burlesque. It's no sparring contest," said the cham-

"It's no sparring contest," said the champion "It always ends one way If Jack licked me it would be bad for the play I'm the hero, you know, and the hero is supposed to come out on top in everything he does. I drop a Mexican greaser with a right-hand smash on the law and fling another greaser out of a balloon. You know, your Honor, it would not look well to have the greasers knock me down or throw me out of the balloon, would it? The boxing, like the other things I do, is all in the play, and if I cut out one feature I may just as well cut out all, and that would leave me without a play."

Frank Hall, the complainant, raised a laugh when he said that he saw blows delivered that would fell any man in the court room. The Judge waved him aside and said.

There is no reason on earth to hold these men. This was clearly not a sparring contest and was nothing that the statutes prohibit. The whole thing was a pretence, a part of the play.

Hall though defeated, declared that he Hall, though defeated, declared that he would continue his crusade against boxing would continue his crusade against boxing.

The recent talk of a fight between Tem Sharkey and Frank Slavin in the Klondike reveals the fact that there is a select bunch of sports at Dawson City who are willing to put up $10,000 for some kind of a puglistic encounter. A logal expert, who has advised Sharkey to stay away from the land of golden frosts, has figured out that it would cost the sailor $6,000 for food during a short stay in Alaska; that seconds would ask $1,000 apiece for their services at the ringside that he would have to buy a drink if he won at an estimated cost of $5,000, and that other incidentals would crimp his pocketbook to the extent of $2,500 more. This would foot up an expense account of $15,000, which Thomas would have to stand. As Sharkey knows something of finances, it is not at all strange that he has reconsidered the offer of the Klondike benefactors.

NO GRUDGE AGAINST BYRACUSE. Cornell Will Be Ready to Renew Relations With Salt City Men Next Year. ITHACA, April 2.-The Cornell Athletic

Council believes that Syraouse has looked upon Cornell's reasons for dropping her from the football schedule in the wrong light. As yet no official action has been taken on the reasons why Syracuse severed all relations with Cornell, and it is believed that the council desires to say nothing about it in order that all discussion on the matter may cease. At any rate, Cornell will not hold any grudge against her rival from the Salt City, and should the authorities in the latter place desire to renew relations next year in football, baseball or track Cornell will be ready to save a date.

SYRACUSE, April 2.—Commodore O. D.

Syracuse, April 2.—Commodore O. D. Blanchard of the Syracuse University navy to-day received from H. B. Plumb, manager of the Francis crew at Cornell a long letter. Manager Plumb states that the breaking of of athletic relations between Syracuse and Cornell will in no way affect the holding of a race between the two crews on Onondaga Lake early in June. It is true that the sentiment among the Syracuse students is not favorable to a race with the Francis crew, but although the latter is made up entirely of Cornell students the Francis Boat Club is understood to be a separate organization and not affiliated with the Cornell navy. If this is satisfactorily shown to be the case a race will undoubtedly be held, as the Francis club is anxious to commune relations with Syracuse. The navy Board of Governors of the latter University are also desirous that the race should take place. The matter will be settled at a meeting of the Board of Governors on next Monday night.
